Thailand Flooding

Dear valued customer,

As I am sure you have seen in the media Thailand is currently experiencing severe flooding and substantial disruption to daily life and production plants operating in the country.

We write to reassure you that Vishay is not affected by the floods as we have no manufacturing facilities in this region and no significant sources for any of our materials.

Our Purchasing is continuing to monitor the situation and avert any potential logistic disruption further down the supply chain but we remain extremely confident that we can continue to meet all your needs and indeed if you are experiencing disruption from any of our competitors we are fully prepared to step in and support you as far as possible.

Yours sincerely
